

Press Release - Founder of Serving Others Worldwide to climb the Seven Summits in all Seven Continents for Charity

Seattle, Washington (PRWEB) Monday, May 3rd, 2010 -- Humanitarian non-profit organization, Serving Others Worldwide, has announced that their founder, Isaac Heckman is set to summit all seven highest mountains in seven continents to spread awareness and raise funds for underprivileged children around the world. Mr. Heckman is scheduled to climb a different mountain every six months and complete this charity climb for kids with Everest in May 2013.

The money raised will go directly to help orphans and children in need around the world who are in desperate need of care. This includes orphan care, HIV infants, those needing medical help as well as to provide clean water, food and education. Mr. Heckman says, "We hope that the awareness of our organization's selfless service will inspire others to live a life of service to humanity as well!"

One of the unique things about Serving Others Worldwide is that all of its board, officers, staff and workers donate their time, talents and resources and do not take any payment for their work. Serving Others Worldwide is thus able to eliminate major overhead costs and pass on 100% of your hard earned donations to the people who need them most!

Serving Others Worldwide is seeking corporate sponsorship as well as personal financial support in this endeavor and encourages everyone to share this vision by either donating funds, supplies, or services to help complete this Charity Climb for Kids and spread awareness of how to help children in need. Serving Others Worldwide is a 501(c)3 non-profit charitable organization and as such 100% of your contribution is tax-deductible.

For additional information on the Seven Summits for Serving Others - Charity Climb for Kids or to make a gift donation for the climb or charity call, contact Isaac Heckman at 425-766-2704 or visit www.servingothers.org

About Serving Others Worldwide:

Serving Others Worldwide™ is a non-profit charitable organization of individual volunteers (doctors, builders, teachers, students etc.) who donate their time, talents and resources to provide aid to the poor, the distressed, and the underprivileged, and seek to assist underdeveloped communities around the world in improving their quality of life.

Bio:

Isaac Heckman is a humanitarian with a special love for children and nature, and has always enjoyed being surrounded by both. Dedicated to helping children, Mr. Heckman began his humanitarian work in 1992 helping rehabilitate and care for abused children on a 400 acre ranch where he encouraged children to develop a love for nature and animals. In 1998, he discovered his love for climbing mountains while summiting Mount Rainier in Washington State just days before he went to Peru to bring humanitarian aid to the indigenous Shipibo Tribe back in the jungles of the Ucayali River. After traveling extensively around the world, Mr. Heckman realized a great need to help the poor and afflicted through a different kind of humanitarian aid organization based on a more selfless and altruistic model and founded Serving Others Worldwide, a completely volunteer based 501(c)3 non-profit charity that is always looking to make a difference in the quality of life of orphans and underprivileged children around the world, while providing volunteers with short-term hands-on experiences in humanitarian service.

Contact:

Isaac Heckman, Executive Director
Serving Others Worldwide
425-766-2704
<http://www.servingothers.org>